

Agents

- The most recent trend in language models are models that not only follow instructions by generating text, but also by performing actions for the user
- Actions include:
 - Interacting with web APIs and other tools
 - Navigating through websites to fill out forms or extract information
 - Writing code and running it
 - ...
- More about it in advanced courses (e.g., Advanced NLP, a course by Tom Hope)